The law firm of PAGE || CAGLE was founded two years ago by its partners, John Page and Zane Cagle. Page spends most of his time handling serious injury and death cases related to tractor-trailer and bus crashes. He has recently represented truck accident victims living in Florida, Illinois, Indiana, Missouri, Ohio and Oklahoma.

Page's accomplishments speak volumes about his commitment to the profession. He is one of few attorneys in the country that has received Martindale-Hubbell's AV rating prior to being admitted to the bar for ten years. An AV rating indicates that a lawyer's peers rank him or her at the highest level of professional excellence. Page is also a member of the Million Dollar Advocates Forum. Membership to this elite group is limited to attorneys who have won million and multi-million dollar verdicts and settlements. Less than 1% of U.S. lawyers are members of this forum.

Cagle, also a member of the Million Dollar Advocates Forum, spends the majority of his time representing injury victims in chemical inhalation cases, construction accidents, railroad accidents, and maritime accidents. He practices in both Missouri and Illinois. When asked about their success, Cagle states, "We have received a phenomenal amount of support from older lawyers who went through the same experience of starting a personal injury practice. Injury lawyers by nature are caring people and that trait extends both to clients and to other lawyers."

St. Louis attorney Josh Myers, is the newest addition to the firm. He joins Stephen Schultz and Anthony Pepe to complete the PAGE || CAGLE team. Page states, "We are extremely fortunate to have associates that are dynamic people with exceptional abilities. We are looking forward to a record breaking 2009!"
